2014 was an early harvest vintage for the Napa Valley as a whole and Howell Mountain especially. We started picking our Cabernet Sauvignon in late September and finished by the middle of October - early for us. The crop yield was great, and the even temperatures allowed us to harvest our estate-grown fruit at the ideal ripeness, producing wines both layered and balanced.

Our 2014 estate-grown Cabernet Sauvignon jumps out of the glass with powerful aromas of raspberry and cherry, mingling with our trademark hints of cedar, herbs and porcinis. This vintage has full, smooth tannins leading into a rich and textured mouthfeel. Raspberry is echoed on the palate, with plum and spice-box leading into a creamy and smooth finish. This wine will age well for 10-15 years but is drinkable now with an hour of decanting.
